The pelican, the fish and the crab

Select Language

In the Malaysian jungle,
at the bottom of a waterfall,
there is a pool.
A family of fish lives there.
One fine day, a pelican arrives.

The moral of this story is:
Do not listen to pelicans!

I'm hungry!
Good morning!
Good morning! What a shame!
What a shame?
The sun is too hot!
The waterfall is going to dry up!
The pool is going to dry up!
My poor family!

I know a perfect pool! (a subterranean river)
Thank you! Thank you! What a good idea!
But, how do we get there?

You can travel INSIDE my beak with your family!

1 – We go to the pool.
2 – You like the pool.
3 – We're all happy.

Good idea!
Yippee!
Yes!

The pelican takes off.

This pelican has a BIG stomach.
Where are the fish?

A bit later...

I am STILL hungry!
Hello pelican!
Hello crab! What a shame!
Talk louder! I can't hear you!
WHAT A SHAME! EVERYTHING IS DRYING UP!
Go on! Spit it out!

Phew! What an adventure!

Don't run!

Stop!

Sit down!

Run!

Dance!

Listen!

Stand up!

Walk!

Look!

Jump!

The sun is too hot.

What a shame! Everything is drying up!

You can travel inside my beak.

I know a perfect pool.

But, how do we get there?

Thank you. Thank you. What a good idea!

Phew! What an adventure!

Go on! Spit it out!

Talk louder! I can't hear you.

Shhh!
You must be quiet now!

We must cross this river
but the bridge is broken.

We have to find another way.

Children, you must brush your fangs before bedtime!

Oh mum! Do we have to?

If you don't, you'll get bat breath!
